

Paid internship opportunities for Provisional Psychologists

Improve confidence, broaden your experience and develop strong clinical competence.

A full-package deal

Marathon Health is committed to growing a strong, skilled local workforce to help meet the mental health needs of rural and regional Australians.

We offer paid internships for fourth and fifth-year psychology students to complete their general registration, at numerous sites across Western NSW, including at our offices in Bathurst, Cowra, Dubbo and Orange.

4+2, 5+1, those planning on registering as an intern and those who have already started internships are encouraged to apply.

What we offer

By undertaking your internship with us, you can expect:

- Relevant work placement with client contact hours
- Successful mental health workforce development program headed by a skilled Project Lead and three experienced Practice Leads
- Access to Board approved primary and secondary supervision
- Accelerated learning via our 4-6-week intensive orientation and training program
- Weekly core competency training calendar
- A professional support network, including peer-to-peer connections and social opportunities via our Community of Practice

“The diversity of the people and needs in rural settings presents many challenges, but also gives you the opportunity to learn so much – and each experience is different. Working with Marathon Health is incredible – the organisation has a clear structure and exceeds industry targets.” Sophie, Mental Health Clinician

“Working in early-intervention mental health is so rewarding. Opportunities for intern experience like this are rare, and I feel so grateful to be able to learn alongside such a great team. Moving from Brisbane, I love that I can walk out my front door and reset in the beautiful nature around me.” Jack, Provisional Psychologist
